

Mercer to Retire After 30th Year

An Announcement to the College Community

Theodore C. Mercer

Shortly after the opening of the new academic year next fall, I shall reach the normal retirement age of 65. The matter of administrative succession has been under preliminary consideration for some time. Consequently, achieving a changeover in administration that would not affect adversely the essential character and continuity of the college is a major goal of the Board of Trustees. The time has now arrived to set in motion the process by which an orderly transition will be made in due time to a new administration.

To achieve that end, the Board of Trustees in its meeting Saturday, April 27, established a Presidential Search Committee with the following membership:

Trustee W. Earle Stevens, Jr., chairman
Two teachers to be chosen by faculty vote.
(We now know these to be Dr. Robert Spoede and Dr. John Bartlett.)

Larry Puckett '73, Cleveland, Tennessee (an attorney and current president of the Alumni Association)

The president of the student body (Dinh Tran)

Dr. Karl Keefer and me

Albert J. Page, chairman of the Board, Ex-officio

The Board action also provides that up to two more members may be added to this committee as deemed advisable. (It is likely that two women representatives will be added, one each from faculty and supporting staff.)

The stated responsibility of this committee is to identify and screen presidential prospects and to make recommendation to the Trustee-Administration Committee of the Board, of which Dr. Ian Hay is chairman. This committee will recommend to the full Board a candidate for election. The Board has stipulated for its own direction that only a candidate recommended by unanimous vote of the Trustee-Administration Committee will be presented to the Board. The trustees have indicated that their primary concern in this matter is to know and do the will of God. Consequently, the Board calls for fervent and continuing prayer in this matter.

In terms of practical implementation, this Search Committee is to be organized prior to the Board meeting in October, when a preliminary report will be made to the trustees. Trustee Earle Stevens, the committee chairman, is moving back to Chattanooga, so the initial meeting of this committee will likely take place when he is back in the area. At this point it is reasonable to assume that this whole process can be completed during the next college year.

On the personal side, the trustees have indicated that the plan for the changeover in administration includes naming me Chancellor, an honorary title used in higher education for retiring college presidents of long service. (The academic year of 1985-86 will round out thirty years of Bryan service for Alice and me.) Generally a chancellor retains some degree of active connection with the institution. I would not, however, be involved in any direct responsibility in the new administration. In any case, Alice and I expect to continue to be a part of the Bryan Family, wherever we are and whatever we do. I probably will conclude my presidency by June 30, 1986, or whenever my successor is available to actually assume the work of the presidency.

There is no reason that this transition cannot be turned to creative advantage both for the college and for the individuals personally involved as we all look to God for His direction.

To be Named Chancellor

Following the spring meeting of the Board of Trustees, Theodore C. Mercer, who has now concluded twenty-nine years as president of William Jennings Bryan College, announced his retirement.

The effects of President Mercer's leadership can readily be seen by scanning the last three decades of our Alma Mater's history. Bryan's physical plant has grown from the partially finished Administration Building to the presently completed structure which houses classrooms, library, administrative offices, the Lion's Den student center, new kitchen and renovated dining room. Other campus buildings constructed during this time include four residence halls providing housing for all students, the Rudd Memorial Chapel/Fine Arts Building, Summers Gymnasium, the Administration Annex Building and Bryan Village, apartments for married students.

All Bryan alumni can appreciate even more than the growth of the physical plant the attainment of accreditation in 1969, and with it the substantial growth of Bryan's student body during the seventies. The enrollment factor becomes even more prominent when we consider that 84% of our graduates attended Bryan during President Mercer's tenure of office. In raw figures this means that, including the class of '85, Dr. Mercer has conferred degrees on 2,270 of Bryan's 2,700 graduates.

All alumni, including those from the Judson Rudd years, can be thankful for this man who continues to zestfully give his life to the Lord's work at Bryan College as he enters his thirtieth year as president.

Class of 1935 Receives Golden Diplomas

Of the six graduates of the class of 1935, three are living; and of the three that are living, one attended the 1985 commencement.

W.A. Colvin, President of Bryan's student body in 1935, marched in full regalia, just ahead of the class of '85, and received his Golden Anniversary diploma from President Mercer.

Receiving their diplomas in absentia were Naomi Jewell Stroud, of Largo, Florida, and Virginia Kohout Holmwood of Erie, Pennsylvania.

Attending the ceremony with Mr. Colvin, were his wife, Almeda; three sons, Stephen, Frank and Tim; and one daughter, Mrs. Mary Ruth Holmes. Two of Colvin's daughters, Alice Hurley '69 of Winterhaven, Florida, and Mary Ruth Homes x'70, are also Bryan Alumnae.

In presenting W.A. Colvin with his Golden Anniversary Diploma, Dr. Mercer recounted how Mr. Colvin walked seven miles one way to school for sixteen years, the last four years to Bryan College. The total distance was well over 25,000 miles.

Alumna on Cutting Edge of Pro-Life Issue

After just six months of internship with the Christian Action Council in Washington, D.C., Jane Park '84 has been added to the staff of that pro-life organization. It will now be her responsibility to help the growing number of Crisis Pregnancy Center by replying to their inquiries and requests for information.

The Christian Action Council is a pro-life organization based in the nation's capital with local chapters throughout the United States. The CAC's stated purpose is to provide a "pro-life solution to the abortion problem." One way this is accomplished is by planting and developing Crisis Pregnancy Centers, where women who are contemplating abortion are helped and encouraged to let their child live. During the last half of 1984 the number of Crisis Pregnancy Centers has more than doubled.

About the CPC ministry Jane writes, "These centers are ministries that I've seen God's hands build and bless. It is a vital ministry because women are being reached in their crises."

Jane's pro-life convictions began during her sophomore year in high school at the premier showing of Francis Schaeffer's film, "Whatever Happened to the Human Race." She sees this as a turning point in her life when she became determined to do something about abortion in the United States. One project she completed in high school was to survey her senior class to determine the effect on young people of education on the abortion issue. She found that, after hearing a guest speaker on the issue, 50 percent of the senior class in her school changed their minds from relative indifference to a positively pro-life position.

Miss Park, who has her B.A. in Christian Education, sees her work as a calling, a ministry from the Lord. "My burden is to see abortion curtailed as much as possible through the Crisis Pregnancy ministry. Apart from this persuasion and practical help, many women would resort to abortion."

Curtis J. Young, Executive Director of Christian Action Council writes, "Jane has abilities and a calling that qualify her for a significant position in the Crisis Pregnancy Center movement."

"Triumvirate" Leads Tennessee Jaycees

If you were to ask anyone attending the Tennessee State Jaycee Convention in Gatlinburg if they knew a Wayne Cropp, or a Marty Collins, or a Larry Puckett, they would probably know who you were talking about. These three young men have each held the Presidency in the Jaycees this past year, Wayne at the state level, Marty in Dayton at the local level, and Larry at the county level in Cleveland, Tennessee. That's right! All three were presidents in the Jaycees for the same term of office.

J. Wayne Cropp '74, was President of the Tennessee State Jaycees. Before that he was President of the Chattanooga Jaycees, and from 1980 to 1982 Wayne was president of the Bryan College Alumni Association. For the past six years Wayne has been Director of the Chattanooga-Hamilton County Air Pollution Control Bureau. In this position he is in charge of all administrative responsibilities, which include such tasks as lobbying for pollution control; writing policies, procedures, speeches and correspondence; testifying before Congress, and handling public relations through guest lectures at universities and appearances at community organizations and on television.

Wayne is married to the former Diane Myrick of Orlando, Florida. They have two children, Rachel, age four, and Joshua, age one. The Cropps attend First Presbyterian Church in Chattanooga.

Referring to this one year term as President, Wayne says, "the year has been extremely rewarding, but I must say I am looking forward to having more time available to devote to other areas including the alumni program at Bryan.

Marty Collins '73 says about his former schoolmate, Wayne, that he noticed the difference at the state meetings when Wayne was president because there was a place on the agenda for devotions.

Marty, who is a deacon at Clear Creek Baptist Church in Rhea County, administers funds for the area Office on Agriculture out of the Chattanooga Area Regional Council of Government. Collins concluded his one year tenure as president of the Dayton chapter by receiving three awards at the Gatlinburg Tennessee convention of Jaycees. He was named to the President's All-Star Club and won the President's Award of Excellence. These two awards were from the state level. On the district level, the Dayton chapter won an award for recruiting 25 new members and gaining a charter for the Spring Creek Jaycees, both accomplishments of Collins' presidency.

Although the Jaycees are a secular organization, a service club that exercises its purposes as a training organization for young adults, Collins observes that the organization includes in its statement of purpose, "We believe that faith in God gives meaning and purpose to life."

A name now familiar to all Bryan alumni is that of Larry Puckett '73. He has been Vice President of the Alumni Association for two years and became President in October 1984. As the third member of our Alumni "Triumvirate" Larry has just completed a year as President of the Bradley County Jaycees in Cleveland, Tennessee, where he is a practicing attorney. He is also a member of the Christian Legal Society, a national organization of Christian lawyers. Larry and his wife, Patty (Baker) '75, have two small children, Andrew, age two, and Anna, age one.

The Alumni Association is pleased to have as members these dedicated young men who exemplify living as "full-time Christians" in their service to their communities as well as to their churches and families. They are just three of the thousands of Bryan College graduates whose lives are witnessing for Jesus Christ, not only in their professions, but in their daily walk.

Seminarian Trains High School Wrestlers

In a voice which carries over the shouting cheerleaders and frenzied crowd, Steve Wisthoff x'82 yells, "Wrist control!" The object of his attention is one of two red-faced boys grappling on a mat. A few minutes later, the boy walks to the bench in defeat.

It's a temporary setback in Shawnee Mission East's surprise march to the regional championship. For Wisthoff, the tournament victory is a sweet moment in a heavy schedule which combines the cerebral world of seminary study with the sometimes bruising world of high school boys and wrestling.

Wisthoff, whose 6'5" wrestler's frame stands out in any crowd, is a first-year student at Central Baptist Theological Seminary in Kansas City, Kansas, preparing for ministry. Wrestling was a sport in which he competed for 11 years beginning in fifth grade. Now his assistant coaching job is helping to pay for his seminary education.

What do high school wrestlers think of a coach who is a seminary student? "They ask me whether I like seminary and what I plan to do when I graduate. It gives me the opportunity to talk with them about ministry and Christianity."

Wisthoff makes himself available to his students as a friend and confidant. "I show them I care about them and establish relationships which sometimes open the doors for sharing."

For Wisthoff, the unlikely marriage of wrestling and ministry has a sound theological foundation. The Apostle Paul speaks of running the race and fighting the good fight. Success in athletics is based upon one's attitude. "Just as we need Christ for our own character development, we need him for everything else too. Our bodies are temples of the Holy Spirit," Wisthoff notes.

Between wrestling meets and seminary studies, Wisthoff is also a husband and father. His wife, Grace (Schoettle) x'82, and infant daughter helped to cheer the team to victory. Steve's brother, Jonathan, is a sophomore at Bryan and his father, David, now with the Lord, graduated in 1953.

DIRECTOR'S CORNER

Alumni Association is Finalist

The Alumni office has been notified that the Bryan College Alumni Association has qualified as a finalist in the Improvement Category of the Alumni Giving Incentive Awards Contest. We are in competition for this award along with other private four-year liberal arts colleges having less than 10,000 alumni. There are hundreds of institutions in that category and we are a finalist!

Bryan alumni have qualified on the basis of figures submitted to the Council for the Advancement and Support of Education last fall, reporting that alumni gifts to Bryan's operating budget had increased by 60%. Also, 38% more alumni than in the previous year participated in this fund raising.

Alumni Recruiting Alumni

Dr. Mercer recently received from alumnus Cliff Branson '59, "We do pray that the Lord will guide in bringing in more students to Bryan this fall. If there are any prospects near us, we would be glad to call or visit them to encourage them. Personal contact seems so vital in many areas."

Alumni are the best contacts between Bryan students. You are urged to send names and addresses of high school students that you feel would benefit from a Christian liberal Arts education at Bryan.

Sponsor an Applicant

Under a new program announced by the admissions office of Bryan College, alumni and other friends of the college are invited to sponsor an applicant to the college by purchasing a $10 certificate toward the payment of one half of the $20 application fee for a prospect in whom they have special interest.

Blank certificates will be provided by the admissions or alumni offices. The sponsor completes the certificate form by filling in his own name and address and the name, address, phone number, and expected enrollment date of the prospective student and by sending it to the admissions office with a check for $10 payable to Bryan College. The admissions office will then send an application form to the prospective student. If the application is returned within 90 days with $10 toward the application fee, the certificate will be accepted as the remaining portion of the application fee. If the prospect does not apply, the sponsor will be given a gift receipt for the $10 and the money will go into the general operating fund of the college.

The sponsor will be kept informed of the status of the prospect and will thus be able to continue to give encouragement. If you wish to participate in this new program, please request as many certificates as you can use from the alumni office.

Class Notes 40's

Howard C. Kee '40, a William Goodwin Aurelio professor of Biblical studies and chairman of the Graduate Division of Religious Studies at Boston University, received a summer grant in 1984 from the National Endowment for the Humanities and was also recognized as the Scholar-Teacher of the Year at Boston University. His book, Miracle in the Early Christian World, published by Yale University Press, was selected by the History Book Club for special recognition. This summer he expects to travel in Europe to include a lecture at an international conference in Norway.

Lucille (Cassel) Henson x'40 has retired in Louisville, Kentucky, from nursing. She remains active in genealogical studies and belongs to several societies for research in this field. She has three sons and one daughter--Charles, Joseph, Douglas, and Donna.

Rebecca (Peck) Hoyt '40 has retired from full-time service at Bryan after thirty-six years but will continue to work part-time as alumni corresponding secretary and assistant to Alumni Director Stephen Snyder in Bryanette preparation and office detail. She and Lowell Hoyt '42 continue to live on the edge of Bryan campus and they welcome alumni visitors. Read more about Mrs. Hoyt in the fall issue of Bryanette.

Ralph W. x'40 and Frances (Gordon) x'41 Penick are retired in Mechanicsburg, Pennsylvania. They have one daughter and two sons--Patricia, Ralph, and James. Ralph graduated from Pittsburgh Theological Seminary with the D.M. degree.

Dorothy (Morgan) Grote '45, a resident of Tinton Falls, New Jersey, is a music teacher at Indian Hill Middle School in Holmdel and organist at the Community Baptist Church in Neptune. She holds the M.A. from Monmouth College.

Anna (Kettenring) Hemberger '45 is a housewife and part-time sales clerk for Jamie's Hallmark Shop. She attends the First United Presbyterian Church in Batavia, Illinois, where her husband, Sam '44, is pastor, and she is pianist for Sunday school and substitute pianist for church.

Jean (Clark) Earl x'45 is a retired nurse who served 25 years in Canal Zone Gorgas Hospital and is now a "small time fruit and vegetable farmer" living near Nashville, Tennessee. She is also promoting the Navigator's program of Bible study at the Harpeth Heights Baptist Church. She has two daughters, Patricia and Penelope.

Kenneth C. Kennard x'45 is professor of philosophy at the Illinois State University. He earned the Ph.D. from Northwestern University. In recent years he was elected president of the Illinois Philosophical Association. Kenneth and his wife, Marilyn, have one son and one daughter.

Lillian (Borgard) Peck '45 and her husband, Earl x'49, live in Willard, Missouri, near Springfield, where they have been active in sales and attend the Glendale Baptist Church. They have four children--two daughters and two sons--and five grandchildren.

John Quimby '45 has joined the ranks of the retired after serving 23 years as personnel officer at BancOhio National Bank in Cleveland, Ohio. He and his wife, Jean, are members of the Faith Memorial Church where John is adult Sunday school teacher and director of visitation. He is also regional chairman of C.B.M.C.

C. Sumner Wemp x'45 is Vice President of Spiritual Affairs at Liberty Baptist College and an Associate Pastor at Thomas Road Baptist Church. He holds the D.Min. degree from Trinity Evangelical Divinity School and received the honorary D.D. He has had a book published under the title The Guide to Practical Pastoring. Sumner and his wife have five children--two sons and three daughters.

Angie Garber '47 was honored with a plaque last August by the National Women's Missionary Committee of the Grace Brethren Churches at their annual meeting in recognition of her 33 years of ministry at the Grace Brethren Navajo Mission in Counselor, New Mexico. Angie was the first teacher at the mission school. She has also been active as a dorm supervisor, cook, driver for sick Navajos, teacher in VBS and summer camps, reading teacher to adult Navajos, and counselor on visitation. A native of Leon, Iowa, she is a graduate of Grace Theological Seminary as well as Bryan. Although she is now officially retired, she continues to be actively involved in the work of the mission. Angie is pictured with two of her Indian children, Seth and Larina Sam.

Bruce '47 and Wilma (Walker) x'49 Rosenau have full schedules of preaching and teaching. Bruce recently added a class with deacons and church leaders, which makes classes on six afternoons a week plus preaching on Sunday and office work in the mornings. Wilma works with women in the church and assists the choir. They recently visited a new church which met under a grass roof with 77 people present. Among them were six children of pastors whom Bruce had taught in Bible school and who are still in the ministry.

Lyman '49 and Helen (Parden) '48 Goehring shared with other missionaries in Fortaleza, Brazil, as they celebrated in February the 50th anniversary of Baptist Mid-Missions in Brazil. They rejoiced in the accomplishments of the past 50 years and even more in recent decisions of four young people and two ladies who are preparing for baptism. One young man of 17 began Bible school with the hope of being able to translate some English Christian books into Portuguese. The Goehring's are currently on furlough in the United States.

Glenn '52 and Marjorie Crumley with their African daughter, Ruthie, who is now legally adopted, came home for a few months, especially to celebrate their 40th anniversary with their five children, having them all together in October for the first time since they were grown. A special feature for their anniversary was a handmade quilt with a block for each of their 40 years of married life, plus blocks for each of the children's families and for each of the 15 grandchildren, to total 81 blocks in all.

Ronald '52 and Gladys (Jennewein) '50 Mezner plan a six-month furlough from Brazil in time to participate in the wedding of their daughter, Jenny '79, in Cleveland, Ohio, on June 29. Ron's seminary classes are smaller this year, but there are a few promising Timothys in the number. He recently completed a seven month pulpit ministry in a new congregation until other missionaries returned. At their main church, new rooms have been added to enlarge facilities. Gladys teaches women's Bible classes, visits shut-ins on Sunday afternoons, and helps with special concerns at the Day School apartments, the seminary girls' dorm, the church, and a nearby orphanage.

Millie Mosby x'53 with her mother had the privilege of a 15-day vacation at the SIM retirement home for missionaries in Sebring, Florida. Her work in Chicago continues with African students under International Students, Inc. A spring conference of the African Christian Student Fellowship Midwest region was scheduled for mid-March when some 100 African students were expected from six states to meet at the Uptown Baptist Church in Chicago.

Fred Donehoo '53 is headmaster at the Calvary Christian School and associate minister at the Calvary Baptist Church in Columbus, Georgia.

Leona Bair '54 left Thailand on February 1 for a four-month furlough to be with her sister and with an aunt who is very ill. Her ministry under Overseas Missionary Fellowship is in North Thailand with the white Hmong tribe of about 35,000 people of whom 1,000 are professing Christians. They have the New Testament and 40 percent of the Old Testament in the Hmong language. There are only three lady missionaries working with these people.

Mulveys

Roscoe Mulvey '54 and Marjorie live in Harmony, Pennsylvania. They both work--Roscoe at Holstead Industries as a welder and Marjorie at an insurance/real estate office in Zelienople. Their three daughters--Mary, Martha, and Kathy--are married and have provided the parents with seven grandchildren. Roscoe is a teacher of an adult class at Unity Baptist Church in Harlansburg, also serves as a deacon, and is active in witnessing in his shop.

John Deal x'58 with his wife, Revonda, live in Ajloun, Jordan, where John is administrator of the Baptist Hospital, sponsored by the Southern Baptist Convention. He has been serving in Jordan since June 1979. Following his year at Bryan, John attended Southeastern Bible College, and then Howard College (now Samford University) to receive the B.A. from Southwestern Baptist Seminary for the M.R.E. from New Orleans Baptist Seminary for the G.S.R.E. from the University of Alabama/Birmingham for the Certificate in Radiology Technology. His service has included Minister of Education and Music in an Alabama church; foreign missions beginning in December 1966 in Taipei, Taiwan; Church Education Consultant and Professor of Church Education at Baptist Seminary in Malaysia; and leave of missions to study radiology technology for three years before going to Jordan. The Deals have four children.

Dean '58 and Edith Franklin celebrated the completion of 21 years with Worldteam by going to Europe for the mission's Europe Retreat and a little extra vacation. In London they surveyed the need among the Muslims and Hindus to plan a special effort for them by Worldteam missionaries. Last year Dean took two seminars and then carried the message of "Personal Leadership Development" to Surinam, Trinidad, Sicily, and the Dominican Republic to a total of 73 leaders.

Gary and Alice (Tobelmann) '59 Fredrick with their sons, Scott, 16, and Mark, 13, plan a furlough from Kenya, Africa, from June through August.

Lloyd Matthes '59 is in his ninth year of teaching math and coaching men's cross country and track teams at Liberty Baptist College. "Dr. Jake," the first full-time math instructor, wrote up the mathematics program as well as inaugurated the two athletic teams during his first year at Liberty. Last year Matthes was named NCAA II Regional Coach of the year. The team has earned numerous trophies each year. Lloyd's wife, Sandy (Schmickl) '72 shared in the musical activities at the college and church and has welcomed the move of her parents, Frank and Virginia Schmickl, to Lynchburg, Virginia.
